Driver Blamed In Bus Crash

A coroner's jury voted 8 to 1 Tuesday that a Los Angeles bus driver was "probably criminally responsible" for the July 14 Arcadia bus accident in which a 3-year-old Sierra Madre girl was killed.

The jury ruled that the death was accidental, however, when the girl, Corinne Matson, was thrown from a parked car after the impact with the bus, Brady Bolt, 29, of 1227 W. 37th St., Los Angeles, was driving the bus.

District Attorney McKesson, awaiting Arcadia police evidence, said inquest testimony suggested a need to plug a legal loophole by which Bolt was able to drive a school bus without proper certification.

BOLT, a licensed chauffeur, drove the bus for a Catholic Youth Organization outing under a quirk of law by which busses used for other than school purposes may be operated by other than certificated bus drivers.

The driver, testifying how his bus overheated on the climb to Chantry Flats with a load of 90 youthful picnickers, said his brakes failed on the return trip and the bus speeded 55 miles an hour before striking four cars and overturning on Santa Anita Ave. near Sierra Madre Blvd.

Highway Patrolman Robert Cox told the jury a certificated bus driver would know that an overheated engine overloads the air brake compressor belt and threatens the brake failure which was responsible for the crash.

Bolt and Cox gave conflicting testimony as to which gear the bus was in second gear, which allowed it to travel at a higher speed.

THE DRIVER said he was in compound low, while Cox testified the bus was in second gear, which allowed it to travel at a higher speed.

"Had it been in compound low," Cox said, "the vehicle at its maximum RPM could not have traveled more than 8 or 9 miles an hour."

Continuing his testimony, the bus driver said:

"As I got about three-fourths of the way down the steep, curving road, I tried the brakes and nothing happened. The bus began picking up speed, so I tried the emergency brake, but it did not work either."

"There was no way to stop it up in the mountains because there were steep canyons on either side of the road. So I tried to change the gear to reverse, but was unable to get it out of gear."

"When we hit the first car the impact threw me from the seat of the bus onto the floor. However, I regained my seat and remained at the wheel as we struck two other cars and finally crashed into a post, which tipped us over onto a parked car."

Fred La Lone Gets TV Bid

Fred La Lone, prominent member of the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Crew, will appear Aug. 2 on the national TV show "To Tell the Truth."

Mr. La Lone will leave next week for New York City on an American Airlines jet.

Altadena Nips Local All-Star Team, 3-2

A last-minute rally failed to head off defeat last Thursday as the Altadena All-Stars baseball team defeated the local entry, 3-2.

Altadena had a 3-0 lead in the bottom of the sixth, the last inning in Little League play, when Mike Ward hit a double for the Sierra Madre All-Stars. Ed Castagna stepped to the plate and walloped a ball over the fence for a home run.

But the Sierra Madre team couldn't push over the tying run and thus was defeated in the first play-off game.

OLD SNORT, venerable fire engine used for many years by the local volunteer department, was sent out to pasture this week in Sierra Vista Park. Old Snort, it seems, doesn't mind and neither do the kids who have a great time crawling over it. In the photo are Hal Austad, George Matakovich, Bill Lester, Bobby Robertson, Frank Fisher and John Nelissen. Fire engine may be joined soon by a surplus jet airplane.

Baseball Group Asks New Field, Money

Another baseball field and more money was requested by the Sierra Madre Baseball Association last Thursday at the meeting of the Parks and Recreation Commission.

The association wants a field for Babe Ruth play on Sierra Mesa School grounds and suggested that the city use its equipment to grade it. Babe Ruth games are now played at the La Salle High School field.

After considerable discussion, the Recreation Commission went on record favoring a field at Sierra Mesa. Tom Butch, assistant city administrator, will contact Robert E. Walke, superintendent of schools, and attempt to work out a program.

IT WAS suggested that the commission request the city to budget money for grading the field. Mr. Butch pointed out, however, that the City Council could not commit itself until the School Board has approved, since the city has no jurisdiction over school property.

The Baseball Association also wants more money from the city to hire an additional umpire to handle Minor League games.

The city has budgeted approximately $630 for two Little League and two Babe Ruth umpires. This money comes out of the Recreation Commission budget, and the umpires are hired directly by the commission.

THE BASEBALL Association wants to hire its own umpires — professionals in blue suits — for all three leagues. There have been complaints, it seems, over calls by the umpires hired by the city.

The situation was further complicated when Recreation Director Dave Sommers suggested that the Baseball Association should be able to handle the Little League by itself in 1960, without city financial aid. Representatives of the three leagues protested this proposal.

Finally, Mr. Butch said there apparently is a lack of coordination between the Baseball Association and the Recreation Commission.

terbottom, played Altadena Friday night at Jim Heasley Field, and walked off with a tightly pitched 2-1 victory.

The Hastings team, by winning the Area 4 playoffs, will meet the winner of Area 2 tonight at 5:30 in Victory Park. (Complete story of Hastings-Altadena game is on Page 1, Section 2.)

Police Continue Search for Masked Gunman

Pasadena police continued the search this week for the masked man who attacked a Hastings Ranch housewife in her home July 21.

Police have carefully patrolled Upper Hastings Ranch and have questioned several men, but no arrests have yet been made. Several Ranch housewives reported seeing a man answering the description of the masked gunman, but none of the reports have been verified so far.

Victim of the attack was Mrs. Irene Botkin, 32, of 1425 Hastings Ranch Dr. She was beaten on the head with a pistol, but was not seriously injured.

Local Youths Defeated in Tennis Match

Both local entries in the National Junior Public Parks Tennis Tournament were defeated this week in play on the Arcadia courts.

Larry Morse lost a close match to Teddy Russell, of Albuquerque, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4. Bill Daws met the interstate champion from Alabama, Ron Sweeney, and was defeated, 6-1, 6-1. Morse and Daws were entered by the local Kiwanis Club.

The No. 1 seeded entry in the tournament is Marcos Carriedo, of National City, defending champion. The initial field for the tourney totaled 350, largest on record.

Both Jack Kramer, the world's top professional tennis promoter, and Pancho Gonzales, world's professional champion, have given demonstrations during the tournament.

Suicide Attempt Fails

A Sierra Madre man tried to kill himself last week, but failed when the bullet missed his heart.

He is Thomas M. Tarwater, 55, of 143 N. Lima. Mr. Tarwater apparently had been despondent over the death of his wife about two years ago.

Police said Mr. Tarwater called the station at about 2:30 p.m. July 23 and said, "I think I should go to the hospital." When asked why, he replied:

"I just tried to kill myself."

Mr. Tarwater shot himself, police said, in his garage with a short barreled 22 caliber rifle. The bullet entered his chest, missed the heart and came out through his back.

After apparently falling down on the garage floor, Mr. Tarwater got up, walked into the house and called police. He was sitting in a chair when police arrived.

Police took the victim to Sierra Madre Hospital where he was reported in satisfactory condition.

Public Hearing Set On Sewer Needs

School Unity Is Sought

A plea for school unification in Pasadena and possibly in Sierra Madre and La Canada was made Tuesday by James N. Stivers Jr., freshman member of the Pasadena Board of Education.

Mr. Stivers, who lives in Hastings Ranch, urged an immediate study of the unification of the Pasadena elementary and high school districts.

Too many "ridiculous" situations are developing, he said, such as the recent debate over tuition payments for seventh and eighth graders between the overlapping districts (Sierra Madre and La Canada).

PASADENA SHOULD also find out whether Sierra Madre and La Canada wish to unify, he said.

"It is incumbent upon us to take the lead, rather than have to wait to find out what other communities think," he told his board colleagues at their meeting Tuesday.

"The longer we wait, the longer citizens suffer from lack of unification," Stivers added.

(Unification in Sierra Madre probably would mean building and operating our own junior and senior high schools, a remote possibility here, Sierra Madre could also, of course, "unify" by joining the Pasadena elementary district.)

WALTER T. Shattford II, board president, agreed with Mr. Stivers that taxpayers suffer, but he questioned the advisability of Pasadena's losing many academically minded La Canada youngsters.

"Certainly every taxpayers' group that has ever studied unification agrees with you that the taxpayers ultimately suffer," Shattford told Stivers.

He added, however, that 90 per cent of La Canada's high school youngsters are college preparatory material. This, he said, gives Pasadena a good balance with the district's non-college minded students.

Big Rattlesnake Killed Here In Canyon Area

A granddaddy rattlesnake, four feet long with 13 rattles, was killed last Sunday at Circle-H Ranch off Sturtevant Dr., the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Paus.

Mr. Paus and a friend killed the snake with rocks and long iron bars. Last week the Paus' pet cat was bitten by a rattler and died.

Two other rattlesnakes were killed in Sierra Madre in the past few days. Ingo Willmanns, 677 Brookside Lane, killed one July 25, and Charles R. Gildart, 531 Elm, killed another July 22.

Heart Fund Gets $1,052 Locally

Citizens of Sierra Madre contributed $1,052.63 to the 1959 Heart Fund, bringing the county-wide total to $1,188,941—highest figure in history raised in Los Angeles County for the attack on cardiovascular diseases.

In a fiscal year-end report, County Chairman James S. Cantlen, Arcadia, vice president and general manager of Pacific Telephone, praised local Heart Sunday and Business Days volunteers for their assistance in helping to boost the Heart Fund over the million-dollar mark for third consecutive year.

Local Heart Sunday workers were organized under the leadership of Mrs. Robert de Weese, 480 N. Lima, Sierra Madre, community chairman.

Don Jackson, 18 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., was general business chairman.

"This record income assures the continued advancement of local programs of heart research, education and services for the benefit of all hearts and especially those of the county's 350,000 sufferers of heart and circulatory diseases," Cantlen said. "Sixty-six per cent of these funds are invested in the local heart program and the remainder goes to the programs of the California and American Heart Associations."

"Contributors and volunteers are to be congratulated for their support in Sierra Madre, which shows that they know heart disease is the leading health problem and that through the Heart Fund this problem can be solved," he added.

City Plans Informal Confab Aug. 25

An informal public hearing will be held in the City Council chambers Aug. 25 as the first step toward forming three sewer districts here. The hearing will start at 8 p.m.

The City Council decided at its meeting Tuesday night to schedule the hearing after receiving a report from the Los Angeles County Health Department which indicates that sewers may be necessary. The districts include Mountain Trail Ave., Baldwin Ave. and a third large area bounded by Baldwin and Michilinda on the east and west, and by Sierra Madre Blvd. and Grand View on the south and north.

IN THE three districts, the Health Department survey showed that 103 homes reported trouble with their cesspools. Not all homes were covered in the sample survey. The leading advocate on the council for the installation of sewers as soon as possible is Milton Emerson. He said he has received many phone calls from residents requesting sewers and that "the city will have to be severed eventually."

It has been estimated that if the city is entirely sewered, we will lose 20 per cent of our water. Another hazard involves a possible water law suit among San Gabriel Valley cities, including Sierra Madre, according to City Attorney Charles R. Martin.

If the city installs sewers, he said, and consequently loses water, we may be at a disadvantage in the suit. He pointed out, however, that the installation of sewers may require top priority.

The hearing Aug. 25 will be strictly informal, since the law requires plans and specifications to be presented at a formal public hearing. These would cost $12,000 to $15,000 in the case of the three sewer districts—an expense the council wishes to avoid until it is certain residents of the districts want sewers.

EARLIER in the meeting, the council attempted to adopt the new budget, with some changes from the tentative one, but was sidetracked by Mrs. Thomas Wynn, 326 N. Sunnyside, who requested a breakdown on budgeted increases this year as compared with last year.

The new budget totals $844,944, more than $100,000 higher than last year's. The new tax rate, however, has been set one cent lower at $1.538. This is possible because of an expected increase dam. He refused, hired engineers and came up with a plan which, he said, is just as good as the county proposal but much less expensive. The city, though, may have to maintain it.

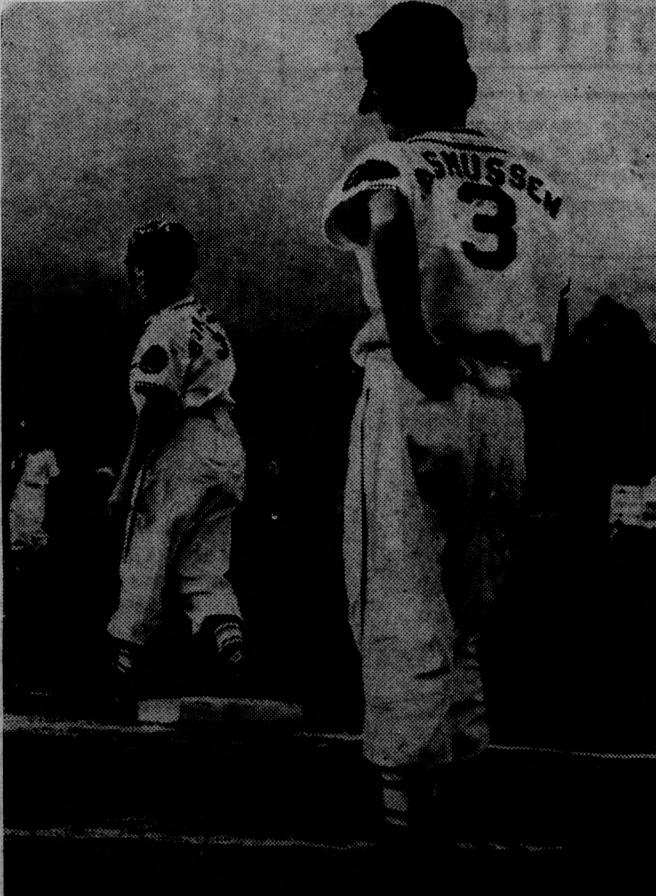

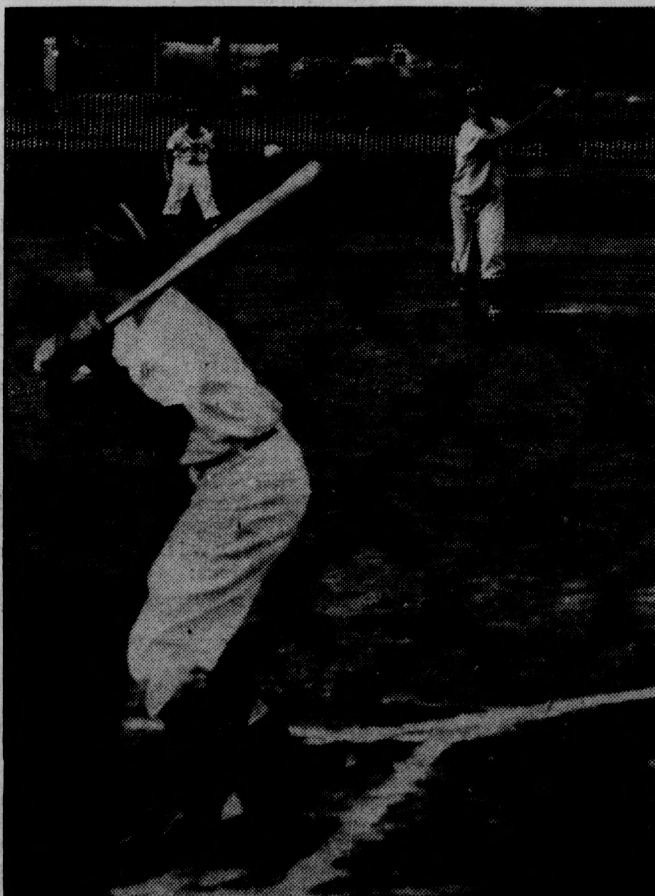

To shorten a complicated story, Hersey argued that the city should pay for two-thirds of the dam, particularly since he will let dirt from the new high level reservoir be dumped on his property, thus saving the city about $15,000 in hauling costs.

Furthermore, he said, the city has a responsibility to protect the residents on Carter Ave. from damage by flood, fire, mud and boulders. "After all," he said, "I don't need your dirt."

THE COUNCIL agreed in essence with Hersey, but argued that the price was too high. Finally, Councilman Lisle came up with a solution which, after several whispered consultations, was accepted.

The city will pay for half of the dam, providing the County Flood Control District approves its construction and assumes jurisdiction over it. If the district doesn't okay the dam and the city has to maintain it, only one-third of the cost will be released from city coffers. The dam is expected to cost about $12,000.

Mr. Hersey agreed, in turn, to accept the city's dirt, and everybody went home, if not happier, at least a little wiser.

Dog Days and London Broil

Last night I was cooking—burning is perhaps a better word—London broil on the rocks, believe it or not, and I got mad.

London broil is simply a flank steak, one of the toughest parts of a Texas steer, and on the rocks in this case means cooking directly on top of the charcoal without benefit of grill. The steak wasn't bad, actually, and if you prefer yours with gritty ashes, it was gone, man, gone.

What got me mad was the name. Why in the hell, I wondered, couldn't they simply call their concoction flank steak broiled on charcoal? Why the fancy euphemism? Why be phony?

THE SAME applies to bourbon on the rocks. Scotch on the rocks and, heaven save us, wine on the rocks. What's the matter with plain bourbon and ice?

To me the earthy sound of "sweat" is far more satisfactory than "perspiration." I personally wear pants, not trousers, I drive a car, not a vehicle, I go to church (liar!), not to religious services, and when I die I hope my obituary, if I get one, refers to my demise as death and not, please, passing on, greeting my Maker, meeting the grim reaper or even getting my just deserts.

The use of euphemisms or delicate words to describe the lusty and vital parts of life is one of my pet peeves. I have many, many more.

For example:

I'M GETTING sick and tired of cheese cake art. This hate is of recent origin, having developed full blown only last weekend when I observed the real thing at the beach. I refer to a delightful female in a genuine bikini who flaunted her wares before the approving stares of all the men. How the women reacted, I failed to notice.

After this revelation, cheese cake art, particularly the dimly reproduced type used to fill space in most newspapers, leaves me cold.

But more seriously, it seems that the use of cheese cake to illustrate a product or an event is the last refuge of a tired mind. Generally the cheese cake has nothing at all to do with the subject.

STANDING BESIDE a tiny bag of Granny Goose potato chips in a newspaper ad is a buxom brunette, indelicately attired, to use a euphemism, who must be all of 19. If she's the one who makes Granny Goose chips, I want no part of them. I doubt if she can make a soft boiled egg or, as my wife insists, a soft cooked egg, which is a euphemism she (my wife) learned in a college home economics course.

I note also that the burros groomed to race in Old Miners Day, an annual event held to publicize Big Bear or some such place, apparently will be led over tortuous mountain passes by girls in bathing suits. This, at least, is the conclusion I've arrived at after viewing the publicity photos. If true, the burro race will be an event to see.

OTHER HATES of mine include television in public places, eye glasses with wrought iron rims, rock-and-roll and country style music, spitting on the sidewalk, cemeteries that advertise "foreverness," and the modern woman who thinks rearing children leaves her no time to assert herself.

And, of course, there are dozens more, but they must wait for another dull week, perhaps next June or July, when dog days again take their toll.—H.W.E.

New City Trees

City officials, who inevitably are condemned regardless of the action they take, should be congratulated for the outstanding tree planting program which is now nearing completion.

Not only did the city buy lovely trees, the price paid for them was entirely reasonable.

When the program is completed, more than 1,000 will have been planted in Sierra Madre, including 35 expensive Indian laurels. The total cost was about $3,000 or $3 per tree.

NONE OF the trees was purchased locally, a development which has raised the ire of several citizens here. Personally, I am an advocate of home-town buying, but so far as the city is concerned this is a question which must be decided by the Council.

The problem, in the eyes of the City Council, is whether it's wiser to buy locally and probably pay the retail price or to shop around and buy wholesale.

There are arguments on both sides, but you can be sure that whichever course is chosen, the Council and city administrator will be roundly villified.

NEVERTHELESS, 10 years from now the trees will have blossomed into their full glory and all of us, will have forgotten the minor row which clouded their purchase. Sierra Madre may not in the next decade be among the most densely populated cities in Southern California (thank goodness), but it will certainly be among the prettiest.

(Among trees purchased and planted by the city are careb, tulip, liquid amber, jacaranda, camphor, Arizona ash, Modesto oak, Holly oak, California oak, fern pine, magnolia and Indian laurel.—H.W.E.)

Happy, Healthy Outdoor Vacation Time

Letters to The Editor

BAND CONCERT

On alternate Friday evenings the band concert in our park demonstrates the fact that Hollywood has no monopoly on the stars under which outdoor music is played. Furthermore, good entertainment does not necessarily carry a high price tag or involve a long hazardous journey through the ever-growing jungle of frustrated automobile horn honkers. In fact, some of the best things in life are still free.

On Friday, July 24 at an extra charge, we were treated to a concert by the Covina band, complete with soprano soloist. Our local band will return the engagement. It is a pleasure indeed to walk to the park with no parking problem other than the selection of bench or lawn space from which to enjoy talent of no mean calibre.

Very respectfully,
K. FRITZ SCHUMACHER

BUS SAFETY PLEA

We cannot rest until we make a plea, on behalf of all the parents and grandparents of small children, for a more stringent law regarding private school buses and their maintenance.

We are the broken-hearted grandparents of little Cori Matson, who was killed by the mechanical failure of such a bus. Because of this accident a half-finished dress was folded away and a little doll which was to have been a birthday gift in September will go to some other little girl.

Our love for this happy, winsome child knew no bounds and so we are making this plea so a third accident will not take its toll of

Lee Shippey asks
What Do You Think?

It's a dull day when there aren't at least as many beauty queen contests in Southern California as there are counties, and usually there are several to the county.

Every community which is going to put on any kind of festival has to choose a beauty queen for publicity purposes. Otherwise, its publicity, according to present trends, wouldn't have a leg to stand on, and legs seem to be the first essential to give publicity standing. Not only communities but fairs, charitable groups, associations and industries must all have their beauty queens, so that we have queens of everything from roses to rayon and pickles to potatoes, all served to us with plenty of corn. Altogether, these activities must give California think the archbishop may have done us good. I, for one, get bored by beauty contests (having very poor vision). Besides that, one may go to any bathing beach in California and see more of the human form divine than one can see in any beauty contest, and even an archbishop can't bathe on bathing beaches. Incidentally, New Mexico has very few bathing beaches.

When a lot of girls are competing in a beauty contest it isn't the beauty of any one body which is notable, for every one of them is practically perfectly proportioned physically. So it is the beauty of personality and the way one wears one's young lives. Perhaps it was part of God's plan that Cori be sacrificed to make school vehicles safer for other children. If so, she will not have died in vain and the world will be a happier place for other children, parents and grandparents.

HALF-PAST TEEN

ANOTHER CONSERVATIVE MODEL I HAVE, IN ADDITION TO THAT TIGER STRIPE, IS THIS LEOPARD SPOT.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA'S fast-moving economy smashed a 40-year record in June by showing an increase in business activity for the 15th consecutive month, according to Security First National Bank's monthly Summary of Business Conditions. In addition, Security's business index for the southern half of the state rose to a new all-time high in June for the ninth consecutive month. Pacing the increase were department store sales, which rose to a new high, seasonal factors considered. Sales were up 4.4 per cent from May and were nearly 13 per cent above June of last year. Total building and construction in the southern half of the state amounted to $325,038,000 during the month of June, equivalent to $3,873,000,000 a year on a seasonally adjusted basis. This reflects a drop of 4 per cent from May's record level. Employment in the 14 southern counties served by the bank increased more than expected for June.

For many years Dr. Randall has owned and headed the Randall Medical Laboratory in Pasadena, and before that she was in charge of the bio-chemistry lab at Huntington Hospital for 15 years. Dr. Randall has been doing cancer research since 1935 and has written her thesis on a new approach to cancer.

During six weeks in Europe (she'll be home soon), Dr. Randall arranged to consult with Dr. Jules Samuels, noted cancer specialist, in Amsterdam. She also planned to visit Paris and Rome, sail up the Rhine and visit relatives in Germany and do further research at the University of Zurich.

Need to Balance Moral Budget: Humphrey

By Robert G. Spivack

Washington (From time to time during the summer months I am inviting guest columnists to write their opinions on topics of the times. Today's guest is the U.S. Senator from Minnesota, a man generally regarded as a top contender for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960.)

By Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey

CIVIL RIGHTS: A MORAL ISSUE—It is not enough to say that the Supreme Court's desegregation decisions, whether we like them or not, must be obeyed simply because they are the supreme law of the land. More than a question of law enforcement is involved. At stake is a basic moral issue which underlies our very conception of democracy.

Thomas Jefferson struggled with this moral principle in drafting the Declaration of Independence. He was acutely aware that Negro slavery contradicted the principles enunciated in that Declaration.

This moral principle of human equality is written into the Declaration of Independence, the Emancipation Proclamation, the 13th, 14th and 15th Amendments to our Constitution, the decisions of the Supreme Court implementing these Amendments and the Charter of the United Nations.

Do we not have the right then to expect that the President and the Congress will affirm the great moral principle of human equality and brotherhood by defending the Supreme Court's desegregation decisions on moral grounds? The fate of the desegregation program depends upon a deep understanding of the moral issue by our people, an understanding that can only be developed through the leadership of all branches of government.

THE SUPREME COURT is playing a magnificent role in teaching the fundamental principles for which America stands. But the President and Congress, too, should be instruments of national education.

This was a function of the Presidency which Franklin Roosevelt understood so well. "I want to be a preaching president—like my cousin," he once said. We could use a little preaching from the White House right now—preaching the gospel of desegregation because it is right and moral.

I am saddened that in the more than five years since the historic desegregation decisions, we have yet to hear from the White House one simple declaration that these decisions were correct and moral. Indeed, anyone studying the statements coming out of the Administration today would think that the only thing that mattered was balancing the financial budget. I suggest that once in a while this Administration consider the importance of balancing our moral budget.

And I regret to report that the record of Congress is little better.

THE UNSUPPORTED COURT—In 1947 President Truman's Civil Rights Committee said, "The time for action is now." It is 12 years later and except for the Civil Rights Act of 1957, pared down under threat of Senate filibuster to avoid any support whatever for the desegregation decisions, the Congress has done nothing to balance the moral budget.

I know all the arguments being used against Presidential and Congressional action in support of the desegregation decisions.

Let us be patient and take things slowly, say the stand-patters. But five years have elapsed since the desegregation decisions and Congress has failed to take one single step to support the Court.

There is still discrimination in the North, say the stand-patters, so why talk about segregation in the South. No, we're not perfect up North—far from it.

Above all, argue the stand-patters, a change in the hearts of men will have to occur before the problem of segregation will be solved.

I am the first to grant that nothing would be as effective in achieving racial equality as a change of heart in the people who harbor racial prejudice. But it is grievous error to assume that governmental action can do nothing to cause a change of heart.

Your Congressman . . .

Urges Public Support for Labor Reform

By Edgar W. Hiestand Rep., 21st District

People of every land possess that intensely human faculty for blowing hot and cold on any given issue.

In these days when every turn of the calendar brings some new world crisis, the American people may be excused for seeming to shift from one important matter to another. What may appear to be a relaxing of interest in labor reform legislation is not necessarily a case of change from "hot" to "cold."

Congressional mail is no less demanding of labor legislation with "teeth," but the quantity has fallen off noticeably and considerably. And this contributes to our danger of failing in a moral crisis.

PRACTICALLY all of the pressure in opposition to sound, exacting labor reform law springs from organized sources, namely the labor union bosses whose interests are best served by the status quo. They've done very well under existing legislation and will not willingly submit to anything remedial.

On the other hand, practically all the pressure in support of good labor reform comes from just plain citizens, expressing themselves individually on a matter that obviously needs correcting for the welfare and protection of union members, non-union workers, small business men, and the general public, in fairness to all concerned.

Ours is a wonderful country, and ours is a wonderful form of government. It is one of the few on the face of the globe, either presently or in the past, which responds to public opinion in the affirmative. Remember the Supreme Court packing scheme of the Roosevelt Administration? It was shelved in response to aroused public opinion.

AND MORE currently, the public clamor that has resulted in the scrapping of the huge Federal spending proposals that came with the 86th Congress. Yes, Congress—your government—responds to you, the public. As surely as night follows day, enlightened and activated public opinion would result in the kind of labor reform legislation needed and wanted by the vast majority of Americans.

In view of the pro-union boss stacked Congress, the American public must act now, or suffer the consequences of a weak and watery labor law which will be the last word in labor legislation for several years.

ROY KLINE, fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Kline, of 255 Ramona, Sierra Madre, is welcomed aboard the U. S. Naval Missile Center, Point Mugu, Calif., by Rear Admiral Jack P. Monroe, commander, Pacific Missile Range. Kline reported to the Naval Missile Center on July 2 from the Naval Training Center at San Diego. He has been assigned to the Naval air station's administration Department.

Public Hearing Set

sence of Charles H. James, to submit her questions in writing. Adoption of the budget was delayed, as a result, and presumably it will be approved at the Aug. 11 meeting.

City Administrator Lawrence C. Bevington was also questioned at length over the consolidation of city departments, the number of employees now as compared to the former setup and the total cost of running the departments.

This particular probe was started by Mrs. Wynn and carried on by Bill Burke, 73 Esperanza. Mr. Burke has expressed dissatisfaction over the consolidation, particularly over the discharge of Carl Rees from the Water Department.

IN OTHER action, the council:

1. Held over for further study a request from the Arcadia-Monrovia Cab Co. for an increase in rates. The company now charges 45 cents for the first one-quarter mile and 10 cents for each one-third mile thereafter. It wants an increase to 50 cents for the first half mile and 10 cents for each quarter mile thereafter.
2. This adjustment, if granted, would not boost the fares on short trips, only on longer ones.
3. Set a public hearing Aug. 25 on a proposed plan to develop properties, exclusive of the Rasmussen tract, south of the business district. The Planning Commission has recommended the changes from R-3 to C-1, and from C-1 to R-3.

Hastings Hell

Summer school is out this week and many families who have been marking time will take off immediately on vacation. Even elementary students have been boning up this summer, and their parents have been engaged in the usual car-pool activity in getting their children delivered in the proper places at the proper time.

Do you think it would be wise to open an office, especially for car-pool arranging? Just call in your problem of who has to be delivered where, when, and leave it to the office to find similar souls with the identical schedule. We could call it the Car-Pool Pool or Central Pooling Office or maybe something clever that we have not yet thought up.

GETTING BACK to vacations, the John McGraws have been having fun at the beach with their new out-rigger. . . Ruth and Hank Howell and children are involved in investigating a deluxe ranch in Colorado. . . Ruth and Jim Alexander weekend at their cabin at Blue Jay, and are becoming experts on ice skates at the nearby rink. . .

THE HORACE RAYS will explore the great Northwest—Oregon, Washington, British Columbia. . . The Joe Cummins group heads for Chicago by train, a visit in Minnesota, and then Joe and Sue will fly to Miami Beach for a bar convention, picking up the family on the way home.

TROPICAL isn't going to be the same after Rose and Nat Danchik move away. They, with their sons, Mike and Stephen, have been favorites in the neighborhood. The Lester Duggans, with their 15-year-old daughter, have bought their home. Mrs. Duggan recently purchased Reece Variety Store in Sierra Madre.

PAT YOUNG is nursing a painful and colorful black eye. This injury did not come about through the misbehaving of her husband, Art—his only sin was not being in the right place at the right time. In other words, Pat alighted from a car, on a 'safe and LEGAL' parkway—that is to say, no cement, just a welter of ivy. As she tip-toed through the ivy, her balance was a bit lopsided and when she stepped on the sidewalk, with a small between it and her shoe—she slipped and cracked her head on the pavement.

DOROTHY CASTOR surprised her husband last Saturday night with a birthday row. Mike will attend La Salle High School in September. Jane and Hal Leffingwell pack up the moving van tomorrow for the trek to their new home in West Covina.

PHYL AND JIM Wentz are having to bear our local heat. It must be pretty hard since they had a nice holiday at Mission Valley Lodge in San Diego and the temperature didn't begin to rise as it seems to on our side of the hill.

BESSIE MEILY is home doing nicely after spending a spell in the hospital following major surgery.

IRENE BOTKIN is feeling better too after having such a frightening experience. It would be well for all of us to pay a little more attention to those coming to our doors. A man, answering the description of the one injuring Irene, has been reported in the area passing himself off as a "man" from one of the utility companies, checking on the service and bills. Because all of us are basically good citizens, it is difficult for us to remember there are those who aren't—and to be cautious about leaving our doors open and not letting anyone we don't know enter our homes, no matter what their excuse.

CAROL and Brewster Benedict have been fortunate enough to have had a recent visit to Las Vegas and Lake Arrowhead. Sounds like fun. Lucie and Marge.

SACRAMENTO, July 28—Collections of alcoholic beverage excise taxes during June based upon May sales by wholesalers and manufacturers amounted to $3,302,630, according to information released by Richard Nevins, Fourth District member of the State Board of Equalization.

This total represents an increase of more than 7 per cent over the collections made during the comparable period of 1958.

Of the total collections, distilled spirits distributions produced $2,854,000, wholesale beer $399,000, and wine deliveries the remaining $50,000, the latter beverage accounting for less than 2 per cent of the total amount collected.

The greatest strength was displayed by the beer industry which reported California deliveries of almost 20 million gallons to register an increase of 59 per cent over those of 1958.

Most of this percentage increase, however, can be attributed to a work stoppage of teamsters delivering beer in the corresponding month of 1958, which substantially reduced beer distributions. Also warm dry weather was experienced throughout most of California during May 1959.

COUNTY AID

County aid amounting to $10,000 from state gas tax aid-to-cities funds for the Arcadia was appropriated to surfacing of four streets in the city by the Board of Supervisors yesterday.

LUCKIEST BURRO—Most of the wranglers in the sixth annual National Burro Derby will not be as attractive as Frances Harkness, a Big Bear beauty, here holding one of the "sweet, docile little animals" that will race from Apple Valley to Big Bear Lake starting Aug. 6. The Burro Derby, part of Big Bear Valley's Old Miners' Days celebration, is one of the Southlands most colorful events. It pits the wrangler against the stubbornness of the burro. VILLA VIEWS

I don't know where it went, but somehow July has just snuck by without a pause for station identification. I find as I get older (my how I hesitate to use that word), my life is becoming one big procrastination. I don't know if I plan too much to accomplish in a given time or if I am slowing up a mite. Naturally, I prefer to think I have too many plans!

The old saying that children keep you young is just a lot of hog wash as far as I am concerned at this point of my life. Our four young people have devised a clever plan whereby they work in relays so they never become exhausted. They really are quite amazed when we sink in our chairs and cry for mercy. After all, we are "older," we shouldn't have to rest. (I've been inculcating them with the idea for years that they should rest in order to grow strong!) The truth of the matter is that I need the rest from them. Now my guilty secret is out.

MRS. JOHN FRICKE Barhite honored Mrs. Loring Dyer with a shower last week. The order of the day was a gift for a baby. Mrs. Dyer is expecting some time in August. The guests were Mesdames Lloyd R. Bertrand, Daniel F. Fletcher, W. J. Grant, Arthur Eggert, Richard Brown, Ben Rogers, Dan Rogers, R. M. Rogers, Robert Parks, Don B. Parks, E. S. Miller, Jack Rosander, Thomas Horn, Frank Williams, James Stivers, Robert Wilfong and Misses Sherry Dyer, Kathy Parks and Beryl Fricke.

THE CHARLES A. Klinger-mans of Wynn Road opened their home last Saturday evening for a swimming, dinner and dancing party. The guests presented them with a gift certificate for an accessory for their new home. Their guests included Messrs. and Mesdames Arturo Gutierrez, George Amthor, Ben Rogers, George Clark, Ralph Paquette, A. J. Huber, Carl Mounteer, Charles Schram, Charles Brinton, John Eppard, Robert Gingrich and ourselves.

MRS. AND MRS. George Morrison of Sierra Madre Villa are home again from a week's vacation that took them visiting in Los Altos, San Francisco, San Mateo, Burlingame and Richmond.

I WAS happy to learn that Mr. C. D. Ward of Windover Road is back on his feet and well again after suffering a heart attack in May.

SEEN AROUND the James Smart pool on Sierra Madre Villa on these hot days are the Walter Dorns, James Smiths, Clete Dorseys, William Cunninghams and the Skipper Rosters. The Smarts' daughter, Gail, is presently in Del Mar visiting with her grandmother. Their niece, Cindy Galopedis, too, has been sharing the hospitality of the pool. She entertained 14 teenagers from the Trinity Presbyterian Youth Fellowship group the other evening.

SPEAKING OF the Dorns. If you recall, Mrs. Dorn won a race horse (Hasty Transit) last year in the Kentucky Club Derby contest. The horse has been racing at Hollywood Park and is just now beginning to come into showing and placing classification. They expect big things at Del Mar. Mrs. Dorn figured inasmuch as she was able to win with a horse's name, why not enter the Kennel Ration contest for naming a dog. This contest offered a $25,000 house in Hawaii with a plantation and lifetime income to boot. Second prize a car, and so on down the scale. She was informed last week that she had won fourth place in the contest. The prize—a palm tree!

Hot Weather Ahead? These Tips Will Help

By Roy O. Gilbert, M.D.
L.A. County Health Officer

Indications are that the residents of Los Angeles County are about to experience a prolonged period of hot summer weather. Although the high temperature already recorded in this area may not be surpassed, it is well known that August and September are generally the hottest months of the year.

Heat-susceptible individuals often find this period a terrific ordeal, and practically nobody finds it a comfortable one. Fortunately, there are certain things a person can do which will make the heat more tolerable.

EFFECTS OF summer heat can be much more serious than mere discomfort. When excessive heat may cause a person to collapse either from heatstroke, sunstroke, or from a heart attack, which sometimes happens in the case of older citizens and the chronically ill. Generally, these conditions occur because of too much exertion when it is too hot or from prolonged exposure to the direct rays of the sun.

When in a normally healthy condition, a human being possesses an excellent air cooling system. In hot weather, the sweat glands usually dilate and the amount of perspiration released is considerably increased. This evaporates in the air and helps to keep the body cool.

To assist nature in this function, it is necessary to wear light, loose clothing, as tight garments keep the heat confined to the body and hinder the evaporation of perspiration. Also well established is the fact that dark colors absorb the heat of the sun's rays, whereas light colors reflect them and so keep the individual cooler.

THE AVERAGE person loses about two quarts and about an ounce of salt from his body on a real hot day, and these substances must be replaced in order that the body's air-conditioning system may function effectively. This is why an individual feels more comfortable if plenty of water or fruit juice is taken in hot weather and an extra pinch of salt is added to food at meal-times.

This small amount of salt is usually enough, although individuals doing hard labor or strenuous exercises will require more. Active children may also require a little more, which can be taken in the form of a few salted crackers or nuts. A person with heart or kidney trouble, however, should consult his doctor before taking more salt than is customarily allowed in the diet.

In hot weather, the blood is busy carrying body heat to the skin surface where it is lost through radiation and evaporation and therefore cannot supply so much for digestive purposes. For this reason, most individuals feel better in hot weather if they eat less at a sitting. Although it makes little difference whether the food is hot or cold, meals should always be well balanced. If a person gets too hungry before the next meal is due, wholesome snacks may be eaten.

CLEANLINESS is more than ever important when the weather is uncomfortably warm. Daily bathing with tepid water is the established custom in many warm countries, and its cooling effect is beyond question. It also has the additional advantage of keeping the skin clean and so permits more efficient functioning of the body's cooling system.

Quite a few people never feel too fit during the hot weather. They not only look and feel uncomfortable but also lack energy. This is not altogether an imaginary state, as some persons are more heat-susceptible than others. Nevertheless, sensible adaptation to hot weather usually results in a lessening of discomfort and a feeling of greater well-being. In any event, such measures help the individual to endure the heat at less cost to himself.

A pamphlet on hot weather comfort will be mailed to anyone sending a card of request to the Division of Public Health Education, Los Angeles County Health Department, 241 N. Figueroa St., Los Angeles 12.

Some people spend money they can't afford because they feel they can't appear not to be able to afford the things other people have.

LABOR BILL

WASHINGTON—The House Labor Committee has finished drafting a labor reform bill pretty much along the lines of the Senate-passed Kennedy-Edwards bill. The bill is expected to make final clearance of the committee this week, and to reach the floor of the House of Representatives for general debate within about two weeks. stand of the 21st District, a member of the House Labor Committee, said the bill has been "weakened" and that it was already too weak when it passed the Senate.

Garden Notes . . .

Perseverance Is Needed to Grow Plants in the Shade

The California Association of Nurserymen is the first to admit that gardening in the shade—especially deep shade—is a challenge to the average gardener. But the rewards are rich to those who persevere and win.

One shrub that not only tolerates the shade but actually thrives in a dark spot is the popular Gold Dust plant. The large glossy leaves are flecked with gold and, as if this weren't decoration enough, bright red berries appear in the fall, provided a pollinizer plant is located nearby.

ONE OF THE most spectacular and hardiest of the shade-loving plants is Florist's Cyclamen. It features large flowers in white or in appealing shades of pink, rose or red. It blooms from November to April, but bulbs should be planted in the summer. Or plants already in bloom are available as nurseries.

For annual color, shady spots will brighten up with Cinerarias and the lovely old-fashioned Mignonette. Of course for light shade or filtered sun, aristocrats to pick and choose. Among these are the Camellias, Rhododendrons, Azaleas, Fuchsias and, of course, Tuberous Begonias. A garden of these alone would be enough to stop traffic in all directions.

HEAVENLY BAMBOO with its feathery foliage and fall color is ideally suited to a corner shade planting, or in the direct sun. India Hawthorn for foundation plantings or as a specimen doesn't mind a certain dearth of sunlight either.

Your nurseryman has a list of shade-loving plants as long as a hoe handle, so don't hesitate to ask him for suggestions. Planting a beautiful shade garden is a challenge worth accepting.

Commercial Fleet Hits Bass Jackpot

By Al Miyadi
LIFE AMONG THE FISH EATERS—Spurred by bluefin tuna fever, Santa Monica Sportfishing's Jack Rea last week dispatched air spotter Johnny Sycamore for a look around the bay by Piper Cub.

Sycamore's findings: No bluefin tuna. But huge schools of apparently big white sea bass in unusual concentrations off Santa Monica Canyon, inside Paradise Cove.

But by late this week, the white sea bass schools at Paradise Cove had been thinned considerably—the commercials, banned from netting below Malibu, had loaded up with tons of big whites, from 30 to 45 lbs. Confessed Paradise Cove owner Joe Morris to former 22nd St. owner Joe Martin: "As one Joe to another, I'm frustrated."

THE LADY AND THE BLUEFIN—In four years of fishing, pretty Dorothy Beecher, Wilmington, had never hooked a tuna. Recently at 10:30 a.m., while trolling off the east end of the Horseshoe Kelp in a 16-foot rental skiff, she hit the jackpot.

After a half-hour battle, including a half-mile tow out to sea, Mrs. Beecher finally got a look at her first tuna—a nifty 33-10 bluefin. Later, at the Pierpoint boat hoist, an onlooker asked: "What were you trolling for?"

"Bonito," she said. "Ask her what she was using," said husband Sam Beecher.

"What were you using, Dorothy?" someone asked. "A white barracuda feather," she said.

ON THE BEACH—The first bluefin tuna off the Horseshoe Kelp this season was taken by Frank Hosokawa, Long Beach.

Sharpshooting Frank Tipper, W.L.A., racked up his second record of the season at Paradise Cove when he took a 40-6 bluefin tuna at the Deep Hole. . . Earlier in the season, Tipper took a 15-4 calico bass at the same spot.

One of the largest yellowtail taken to date at San Clemente Island was a 42-8 beauty hooked by another sashimi (raw fish) eater, Shingo Yoshida, Long Beach, while fishing off the Sea Angler.

The flurry of sea trout (small white sea bass) off the Santa Monica pier has been dubbed the "great small white sea bass run."

Newport Bay also doing well on sea trout, small halibut. . . One day last week, Davey's Locker boats worked both the Horseshoe Kelp and the San Onofre (off San Clemente) area, deadheaded with near limits of barracuda, yellows. . .

"Fishing Flashes" this Wed. (8:30 p.m., Channel 9) featuring "Ladies Only."

Bonito everywhere, bigger, to 12 lbs. . . a unanimous choice as the roughest, toughest of all gamefish. . .

Rock Point coming back strong again. . . San Diego slowly rounding to form again. . . Sportfisher IV off again Sunday on a 3-day albacore search.

WINNERS—This week from the telephone directory, these five names: Melvin Greenstadt, 109 S. La Jolla, L.A.; Charles F. Jasper, 3211 119th Pl., Inglewood; Earl S. Middleton, 131 S. Chandler, Monterey Park; Emil Anderson, 4103 East Blvd., Culver City, and Mildred Virts, 9436 S. Bradwell Ave., Santa Fe Springs.

Actung! Low Slung Cars Verboten Sept. 18

The low slung automobile that appears to slide along the roadway without any visible clearance will soon be a thing of the past.

The California Highway Patrol said yesterday that owners of these modified cars have until Sept. 18 to make them conform to a new section of the vehicle code that becomes effective on that date.

The new section provides that the clearance between any portion of the car, except the wheels, and the roadway must be at least as great as the distance between the roadway and the lowermost portion of the rim of any wheel in contact with the road, declared CHP Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden.

"Lowering of cars has reached the point of creating accident-causing situations," Crittenden said. "This is a safety measure that doesn't prohibit modifying a car, but does control the hazards to traffic that the more extreme cars have presented."

Some people seem to think they have to wear a stony face so they can be considered a pillar in their church.

CAN ANYONE FIX A TELEVISION SET?

The only thing more intricate, more sensitive, more delicate than an electronic instrument is the human body. Although it is a challenge to our general knowledge of mechanics, it is beyond the ken of even many graduate engineers to repair television receivers.

A television set is an electronic timing device. It is necessary that the synchronizing pulses come in their proper sequences and within millionths of a second. The video or picture information must be separate from their synchronizing pulses as also from the sound.

Quite often when one of the tubes goes bad in the TV sets it is because of a defect or a maladjustment in the chassis itself and should be corrected before replacing the tube. . . Yes, anyone can tie an expensive car up with baling wire. The car will not give you good service, not will the TV set that has not been properly repaired by a competent serviceman.

The equipment your television man uses must through necessity cost thousands of dollars and requires years of study in electronics to operate. It saves him and you hours of time in getting your set back into operation with the least difficulty and bother on your part. For TV repairs and information call this associated dealer . . .
